My goal of my project is to sucessfully create rainbow cupcakes from scratch without the taste of food coloring. The goal is important to me because I have never successfully made perfect rainbow cupcakes. I will benifit from this project to help me improve in baking. I will evaluate the success of my project by taste and the look of each layer on the inside. Also the straightness of the colors on the inside.

The sources i will utalize to learn about this project is the internet, family and friends. These sources will help because the internet will tell me how to make cupcakes from scratch. My family and friends might have tips and tricks to making perfect cupcakes.They support my passion because I love baking and this will definatly Improve my baking. I will evaluate the effectivness of the sources by how they help me reach my goal.

Some decisions that need to be made throughout the project, is what recipe to use for the batter and what kind of frosting. These decisions change the end product, because if i pick the wrong type of batter, it will change the whole taste of the cupcakes. When seeking advice, i would talk to a prefessional baker. The goals might change at the end product, because maybe changing a goal will improve the final product. But it could also make the cupcakes taste worse.

Some road blocks I might encounter is the cupcakes tasting to much like food coloring. I could solve it by maybe adding something to add more of a vanilla taste. If i can't solve the problem with my first solution, then i will just try something different each time. Like maybe changing the recipe and adding more flavor. I could use the internet as an additional resource to see if anyone has tricks to resolve my problem. Also the internet could help me figure the correct amount of ingredients to use.

I think i will be successful, because my goal is to make a perfect rainbow cupcake and if i succeed, i will be successful. I think the quality standard my project will complete is very neat and perfect. A quality check i will perform along the way of completing my project is taste and looks. Some specific academic standards my project will adress is how baking is/ can be creative. Its not academic; its fun.
